Little Red Riding Hood

Retold by

Once upon a time there was a little girl called Little Red Riding Hood who lived with her mother.

She lived next to a deep, dark forest.

Early one morning Little Red Riding Hood's mother asked her to take a basket of food to her grandma. She lived at the other side of the forest and was not very well.

Little Red Riding Hood's Mother said "Don't talk to strangers and watch out for the Big Bad Wolf!"

So Little Red Riding Hood set off. Suddenly out of the trees came the Big Bad Wolf!

"Where are you going?" he asked.

"I am taking this food to my Grandma's cottage" she replied.

"I will eat the Grandma and then I will eat the little girl" thought the wolf.

First wolf ran quickly to Grandma's house.

Next he knocked on the door.

Then he said "Hello Grandma, the wolf said in a squeaky voice. It's me Little Red Riding Hood.

Grandma knew it wasn't Little Red Riding Hood so she hid under the bed.

After that he dressed up in Grandma's nightdress to trick Little Red Riding Hood.

Finally, Little Red Riding Hood arrived.

"Oh Grandma. What big eyes you've got!"
"All the better to see you with my dear" said the wolf.
Oh Grandma. What big ears you've got!"
"All the better to hear you with my dear" said the wolf.

"Oh Grandma. What big eyes you've got!"
"All the better to see you with my dear" said the wolf.
Oh Grandma. What big ears you've got!"
"All the better to hear you with my dear" said the wolf.

Luckily a woodcutter heard Little Red Riding Hood scream and ran in the house to help.

At that moment the Big Bad Wolf ran away and never came back!

Little Red Riding Hood, Grandma and the Woodcutter sat down for tea and they all lived happily ever after.

The End

Images available from Getty images