Dear Colleagues

Please find below this week's instalment of Digital Citizenship articles. I imagine you'll be too busy to click through them today, but perhaps over the next few days you can find a few minutes or so to explore some of the tips and articles?

1. We have an academic subscription to Lucidpress. If you have no idea what this powerful online tool can do then watch this 60 second introduction.

2. Healthy Sleep Schedules
Useful tips on getting a good night's sleep for us all, including eliminating the use of blue-light emitting devices right before bedtime.

3. Google Search Tips & Tricks
Even if you (and your students) know only a few of these tricks you are guaranteed to save time when searching.

4. Staff ICT Advocates

If you would like to be an ICT advocate for your Year Team, Faculty or Subject please drop me an email expressing your interest. More details on the link opposite

5. ICT Tips for Teachers Courses

Blogging for Primary Teachers on Monday 31st August. Google Drive for beginners on Wednesday 2nd September (EAL Team & others). Click the icon to sign up

6. Meet the IS/IT Team

This week's member of the IS/IT team is Punchalee Chairatanatrai. Khun Ant (kisu@patana.ac.th) is responsible for devices in Humanities, Maths, Science, Computing, Learning Support & Careers. Please say hello (you can't miss that smile) and ask about her travels in the UK.

Copies of these Digital Citizenship emails will be posted on the Digital Citizenship blog. As always, contact Callum or myself for ICT training or support.

Have a great weekend

Brian
